BILL WILL HURT
ATLANTIC LINERS

Hungarian Government Introduces Measures in Reichstag to Concentrate Emigration.

Vienna, Nov. 8.—(Special)—The Hungarian government has introduced in the reichstag an emigration reform bill of sweeping character. One of the main provisions of this bill strikes a heavy blow at the North Atlantic steamship lines by empowering the government to route emigrants through the Hungarian port of Fiume. Up to the present time Hungarian emigrants have sailed chiefly from the ports of Hamburg, Bremen, Rotterdam and Antwerp, and last year a total of 70,941 Hungarians left these ports.

Prospective Loss The prospective loss to the German and other steamship lines sailing from the ports mentioned is likely to be even greater, because Austria is now preparing a bill similar to the one introduced by Hungary, by which it is expected to send Austrian emigrants through Trieste.

The Hungarian bill specifically prohibits the emigration of certain classes of people, including men who have not performed military service, parents who leave behind them children under fifteen years of age, and persons without adequate traveling money of whose expenses are paid by foreign states or colonization societies.

Forbids Emigration Under the bill the government can forbid emigration to certain countries entirely or provisionally, and it can prevent the emigration of certain classes of persons when this is deemed expedient. The bill provides strict regulations for the emigrant transportation and for the regulation of emigration agencies, under heavy penalties.

OFFICERS NOT TO BE MARRIED

General Corbin's Report Opposes Weddings in the Army of Young Officers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(Special)—Early marriages of officers in the army are opposed by Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general, in his annual report, made public today. The marriage of young officers is declared a detriment to the service, in that it divides the attention of the men and detracts from their value in the work laid out for them.

The re-establishing of the post canteen is advocated by the adjutant general. On these subjects the report says:

About Marriage "The early marriage of the younger officers of the army, many of whom are entirely dependent upon their pay and allowances for support, is greatly to be deplored and should be discouraged. A young officer should have but one allegiance, and that should be to the service. Those without private means must necessarily divide their pay between the demands of their office and family. A considerable number are required for service in the Philippines, where living is expensive and the accomplishment of this tour of duty results in actual hardship to officers with families.

The French Chamber of Deputies invalidates the Election of De Castellane.

Paris, Nov. 8.—After an exciting debate the chamber of deputies today, by 278 to 235 votes, invalidated the election of Count Boni de Castellane as a member of the house.

The question came up when the committee on contested elections presented its report without recommendation, leaving the chamber to pass on the question.

Emile Chauvin made a bitter attack on the Count de Castellane, declaring that he had been guilty of irregularities and saying that the count had accused his opponent of being of German descent and a Dreyfusard.

Accuses The Count In the course of his speech M. Chauvin declared that Count de Castellane, in order to warm the enthusiasm of his partisans, abandoned all reserve, and through his agents, gave unlimited credit in hotels, inns and drinking places, until the district was gay with fetes and merriment during the campaign.

The Count delivered his reply in vehement tones and indignantly repudiated the accusations of M. Chauvin, which, he declared, were an attack upon the integrity and honesty of his constituency. He explained further that he had helped some poor workmen's organization, but that he had asked nothing in return.

Scene of Disorder During the debate there was much disorder, the members of the left applauding the attacks on Count de Castellane and joining in his reply, while the count's republican associates gave him hearty applause.

Another election in the Basses Alpes district, represented by Count Boni, was announced result of the vote Count Boni arose and started for the door. His friends crowded around him shaking his hand. The business of the chamber was suspended temporarily while the count was escorted to the exit. Just before he left the chamber he turned and shouted defiantly: "Gentlemen, I will be with you again."

ELABORATE ALTAR RAILING IS HERE

BEING INSTALLED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

THREE BEAUTIFUL STATUES

Costly Gifts to the Church by Members of the Congregation—Stations To Be Completed Later.

Ever since St. Mary's church was first opened with the public dedication services, additions have been made to the lavishly beautiful decorations of the edifice. The latest ornamental fittings to be added to the great number, which have already been put in place, are three statues, and a series of memorials. A series of fourteen stations have also been given, but they have not yet been completed and probably will not be for six months.

Of Marble and Onyx. Polished marble and onyx are the materials which have been extravagantly employed in the altar railing. The panels are of britannia, heavily inlaid and plated with gold. White and gold are used as the prevailing colors in setting off the more substantial stone and metal parts of the rail. A Gothic design, elegant in composition, has been employed.

Beautiful Candelabra. At the ends of the railing the newel posts support figures of angels. The angles in turn hold-up candelabra of a harmonizing shade, and of an appropriate pattern to bring out the remainder of the rail in strong relief, by their less cramped design. For lights, a number of tiny incandescent bulbs have been used, following the same idea which has been employed in the candelabra of the altar.

A Memorial Gift. It was in memory of Rev. George Strickner that the railing was given to St. Mary's church. Workmen are now engaged in adjusting the parts of the rail, which has only just been received, having been shipped to this city from Dubuque, Ia., where it was made. It is a product of the workshop of the Dubuque Altar Co.

Two Companion Statues. One of the statues which has been received, and has been put in place is of St. Anthony. As he has been pictured by the sculptor, a beggar is about to receive a loaf of bread from his hand. The statue will rest upon a handsome bracket. It is a gift to the church in honor of Miss Anna Shekey, recently deceased. The companion statue is of Saint Ann, and is the gift of Mrs. William Kennedy.

State of Sacred Heart. None of the recent acquisitions of the church surpass in beauty and appropriateness of design, simple and chaste, yet striking in beauty, the Sacred Heart statue. It is the gift of Miss Kennedy. All three of the statues are made by the celebrated Daparto company, an Italian firm located in Chicago. It is one of the most noted firms in the world in that line of work.

Costly Decorations. In all these newest pieces of altar decoration have a value of not less than one thousand dollars, to say nothing of that value which cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Other Gifts. In addition to the railing and statues, fourteen stations have been ordered. Each of them is a separate gift to the church many of them being in memory of the deceased members of the congregation. These will probably be completed and ready to be put in their respective places in the church on about the first of April.

fore the meeting yesterday, but the time was not considered ripe to make them public yet. In fact the right persons were not at hand to permit of making the arrangements which are now desired.

JURY SAY TIFT KILLED HIMSELF

He Had Tried To See His Wife That Morning—Convinced He Committed Suicide.

After calling several witnesses and hearing their testimony regarding the death of Daniel R. Tift, the jury empaneled before Justice Earle were convinced that he had committed suicide by drowning. A verdict was handed in to that effect. No new facts were brought out by the inquest, save that the deceased had gone to the house where his wife was staying, at about six o'clock on the morning that he killed himself.

Officer Fanning First Witness. Officer Patrick Fanning was the first witness sworn after the jury met in Jesse Earle's office at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. He related the story of his being met by Ed. Paul in a carriage, and told the story of finding a cap and coat on the Spring Brook bridge. After completing his narrative to the point of finding the body and bearing testimony to the good character and regular habits of the deceased, he was dismissed, and Ed. Paul called.

Mr. Paul corroborated every point in Mr. Fanning's story, and added his account of finding the clothing. He had supposed some one was hunting muskrats near the place, but was convinced that something was wrong when he saw the cap lying there as well as the coat.

Gone to See Wife. Chief Hogan, A. Smith and several others then told what they knew of the matter and then the jury gave their decision. Chief Hogan added the information that the man had been at the house where his wife is now living at about six o'clock that morning. It is supposed that he tried to get her to go home, but was unsuccessful. The deceased had told his brother that he had had a little trouble with his wife, but expected it to blow over in a few days. To everyone the action of Mr. Tift was a surprise.

Several Saw Him. Later in the morning, about 7.15, A. Smith's son had seen Tift and about 7.30 Will Duob had noticed him near the brewery. These hours coincided with the theory that the dead man had not been in the water long when his coat and cap were found at about eight o'clock. The body was not taken from the water for half an hour or more after that. The coroner's jury which held the inquest was composed of A. Smith, Alfred Jones, John Richardson, James Burns, M. G. Curtis and W. Charles.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh, Charles! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Smith's Pharmacy.

the young people. He was born in Iowa in 1855, graduated at the State University of Iowa in 1880 began the practice of law in 1882, and for eleven years was a successful lawyer. In 1893 a call to give up the legal profession and preach Christ was irresistible. He was for five years president of the Minnesota State Christian Endeavor Union. He has spoken at many international Christian Endeavor conventions. He has conducted successful union evangelistic meetings in Boston, Rochester, Syracuse, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Cedar Rapids and many other places.

No Sensationalism. Mr. Hunt is not sensational. His presentation is rather from the point of view of a trained lawyer. He argues to convince rather than to play upon the emotions. He is an earnest and well equipped Bible student, a man of broad, well-balanced views of truth and human life, well acquainted with human nature, its strength and weakness. It is his special desire to reach men. He is a good, clean, clear, earnest and easy speaker, with pleasing appearance and manner, and no one who comes can fail to get much help from his presentation of the truth. His application of the Word to daily life, and his telling illustrations are interesting and profitable.

Talented Musical Director. Roscoe King, of Chicago, accompanies Mr. Hunt and will have charge of the music, a chorus assisting. He is a vocalist and violinist of rare talents. He was born near Ashland, Ohio, in 1876. His musical training was in DePaul College Conservatory under direction of his father, Mr.

ROS COE KING

H. Bert King, of Oberlin College. Later Mr. King assisted in the conservatory and has since taught music in Redfield College, S. D., Huron College, S. D., and Winona Institute, Montevideo, Minn. He has also studied with D. B. Townner and Warren C. Coffin of the Moody Institute, Chicago. Besides the teaching and orchestral work he has done considerable in male quartet concerts. He is an earnest Christian.

Topics for First Week. The program for the first week's services has already been planned. On tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock Mr. Hunt will speak on "A Lawyer's View of Salvation" and at the 7 o'clock evening service he will preach on "What Think Ye of Christ?" Services will be held every evening except Saturday, the topics for the coming week being Monday, "The Gospel of Work;" Tuesday, "The Revival Needed;" Wednesday, "The Power of Prayer;" Thursday, "The Incidents;" Friday, "From Law to Gospel;" Mr. Hunt's own experience.

Bible Readings. Bible studies, which are said to be the best part of Mr. Hunt's work, will be held four afternoons this week from 3 to 4 o'clock, the topics being as follows: Sunday, "What is the Bible?" Tuesday, "The Promises;" Wednesday, "Conditions;" Thursday, "Personal Work." On Friday at four o'clock a boys' and girls' meeting will be held.

Church Committee. The committee which has charge of these special services is composed of Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor; Judge B. F. Dunwiddie, W. H. Rose, J. J. Bailey, E. N. Butterfield, L. K. Crissey, Wilson Lane, C. H. Eller, A. A. Whitten, H. A. Palmer, J. S. Taylor, J. T. Pritchett, A. F. Hall, E. E. Clinton, C. P. Beers and R. H. Grove. The public is cordially invited to any and all of the services.

AN OLD INJURY STILL IN COURT

Man Injured in Jansville Two Years Ago—Case Tried Before Judge Kohlsaat in Chicago.

Acting under authority given to him by Judge C. C. Kohlsaat of the United States Circuit Court at Chicago, Justice W. R. Reeder yesterday afternoon took the deposition of two witnesses in the case of Fred Galow against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. The papers of the suit were originally served in the Illinois Circuit Court, the North District of Illinois, the Northern Division. It is being tried in that court at present under Judge Kohlsaat.

The suit is for damages sustained in an accident in this city about two years ago. It was at the time the Milwaukee road was building their new line, and were working on the cement abutments of the bridges through Monterey. Fred Galow was one of the workmen employed there.

Injured By Falling Plank. In order to carry on the work, a number of planks were fastened near the top of the piles and one of them became loosened, and falling struck Galow in the back. The injuries which resulted he claims are so serious as to entitle him to damages. Yesterday afternoon the witnesses who were called were Frederick Wolfgram and Dr. Whiting. The former was one of the workmen who was with Galow at the time of the accident, and Dr. Whiting was the physician called to attend the injured man. Justice Reeder took the testimony of both men, and sent it to Judge Kohlsaat to be used as evidence in the trial of the suit.

CHARGED HIM WITH THREATS TO KILL

Mrs. Maggie Smith of Milton, Wishes Action Taken Against Her Husband for His Language.

Mrs. Maggie Smith of the town of Milton, wishes her husband, James E. Smith put under bonds to keep the peace, because, as she alleges, he has violently threatened her. At two o'clock this afternoon, the hearing of the case was begun. Mr. Smith appeared before Judge Field yesterday and the dates of calling the case was set for today, and Smith was released on five hundred dollars bail. According to the complaint which is made, Mr. Smith threatened that he would assault and kill his wife. The exact words which were used are given as, "I will kill you, and I will cut their hearts out," the latter remark referring to the children.

RUSK LYCEUM GAVE ENJOYABLE PARTY

First of Winter Series of Dances Under Auspices of High School Literary Society.

About fifty couples attended the first Rusk Lyceum dance of the season. The party was given in the East Side Odd Fellows' hall, and was a success in all respects. The music especially was loudly praised by every one. The orchestra was that which has been playing on the streets for several days, made up of Italian wandering musicians.

As the plans of the Lyceum now stand, a second dance will probably be given two weeks from last night, and the series will be continued through the winter months. The committee which so ably managed the party of last evening, and will continue to have charge of the dances, consisted of Starr Atwood, Will Curless and Harold Smith.

A slight damper was put on the jollity of the evening by the early departure of the members of the football team. It was hard on the boys to have to go at ten o'clock, but Coach Norris insisted that they be in as good condition as possible for today's battle.

The Opening Show.

Wednesday AND Thursday
Nov. 12 and 13th.

It has been our intention to give a fall opening, but owing to the vast amount of work necessary to get our great fall and winter stock into shape, for ready selling, rush of business etc., we could not get to it earlier—However, not disparaging, although a little late, we have reserved two... days, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 12th and 13th, for a Formal Opening, and the store will be trimmed throughout, up stairs, and down for the occasion.

It will afford the great public an excellent opportunity to see the store at its best, and also form an idea of the immensity of the stock, its wonderful completeness. We want everybody to feel free to come.

In every city there is a certain proportion of the people who patronize stores in large cities through their catalogues, or visit the stores in person, without trying to find out whether articles can be obtained in the home stores. To such people we extend a special invitation to call and compare notes. Owing to the vast amount of merchandise sold by The Big Store it enables us to buy goods from manufacturers and commission men who sell only to the wholesale trade, or the largest retailers. While our prices may not always be lower than others, in many instances one will find that

"WAY DOWN EAST" PLEASES AUDIENCE

Company Has Deteriorated Somewhat
[with Years, But Still Gives Great]
Satisfaction to All.

"Way Down East" is one of the few plays which seem capable of sustaining to any degree a reputation of immortality. At the Myers Grand last evening, one of three companies which are on the road this season in the old favorite played to a large house, as Janesville houses go. At times it was easy to believe that the wrong one of the three had been billed for this city, but more often the parts were well taken, and played with a more than fair degree of sympathy.

Grace Hopkins makes Anna Moore appear almost too forlorn, and for-entirely new and of the very best order of photography that must be used on the circuit of the kinodrome machines in the various theaters throughout the country. To make a long story short there are so many different and pleasing things to be seen with this mammoth attraction that it is impossible to tell about them. See it all and be convinced. An entire change of programme each performance. Popular prices 10-20-30.

STORIES PICKED UP AROUND TOWN

Some Amusing Incidents Which Have Occurred in the Whirl of Every Day Life.

She is a daughter of a local clergyman and a maiden of quaint, original ways and decided views which she has no hesitancy in expressing. This summer she was visiting at the home of a little cousin about her own age and one day while at play the two little maidens became involved in a childish quarrel in the heat of which the juvenile hostess slapped her Wisconsin cousin. About this time the two mothers became interested in the affair and two angry maidens with flashing eyes were led off into separate rooms for private conferences. Punishment was meted out to the ag-meet." And then she wondered why her class makes laugher.

Not a Freshman
There is another High school story that is equally as good, if not better, and it is especially enjoyed by the students because it is at the expense of a member of the faculty. It happened some time ago being one of the incidents of the reception which was given by the Senior class for the Freshmen and the members of the faculty. As a method of breaking up all formality Supt. Buell suggested a grand march, lining up the Seniors on one side and the Freshmen on the other, with the faculty divided between the two. They were to select their partners by chance as the two lines marched together. Some of the Freshmen boys hesitated about getting in line and the Seniors were instructed to seize hold of them and to force them to take part. There were a number of new teachers at the beginning of the year and the members of the faculty were not yet acquainted with each other. One of the lady teachers, who was a stranger, saw a bashful looking boy lurking behind a crowd of Freshmen, and, feeling that she must do her duty, she walked up to him, took him by the hand and pulled him gently but firmly into the grand march. Then she looked at her charge more closely and immediately made up her mind that he must be some country boy who was a Senior and had got on the other side by mistake. "You are not a Freshman, are you?" she gently and pointedly asked and then it was her turn to feel like the overworked thirty cents when he stammeringly answered that he was one of the teachers.

gress in the slapping incident and the clergyman's daughter was given an impressive little talk on the wrongfulness of her behavior. In the course of the conversation her mother asked her if she did not know that God had said if any one slapped her on one cheek she ought not to go angry but ought to turn the other cheek. This was a new idea to the child and evidently interested her greatly for she demanded rather than asked, "Did God say that?" When assured that he did she replied, quick as a flash and with infinite scorn,
"Well, then I don't think God knows how to manage." This same little girl and her brother are in the habit of repeating the Lord's prayer together and one day when summoned
for the service she said "Oh, I'm busy.
Brother, you say it and I'll say
"Amen."

Dog Was Willing
One of the prominent attorneys of the city owns a dog to which attention of the Francis Murphy Temperance league is called. Rab has filled with dignity his own particular place in the household for many years and he has grown old and stiff in the discharge of his self-assumed duties of property protector. During the years of faithful service, he has established himself in the affections of the members of the family and consequently when he was taken ill recently his human friends were interested in relieving his sufferings. A neighbor suggested that a liberal dose of whiskey would be good for him. The lady of the house undertook to administer it and finally succeeded, although she found it almost impossible to force the animal's jaws open. The next day she found her task an easier one. A few days later she noticed the dog lying out doors and he seemed so stiff that she thought it would be a good thing to give him the rest of the whiskey. This time she was not required to force his effort at all for as soon as the dog saw the familiar bottle, his mouth flew wide open. The lady tells the story herself and further says that she believes the blue ribbon workers ought to interest themselves in the case.

Joke on a Student
This is a true incident of the High school geometry class, where funny things often occur. In order that the story may be fully appreciated by those who are not geometry students it might be well to state, as a preliminary, that a dihedral angle is the angle formed by the intersection of two planes which meet on a common line and that the surfaces of the planes are known as faces. The definition given by a popular young lady in the High school was somewhat twisted and caused quite a good deal of amusement. In response to the request of the teacher that she explain to the class what a dihedral angle is the young lady replied quickly, with the conscious air of one who knows, "A dihedral angle is the angle formed at the point where two faces

PUNISHMENT AND CRIME

"I'll tell you what it is John, three years of this kind of life makes a boy sober, and sometimes a feeling of desperation comes over me when I think I am going out again into the world at the close of another six months."

The boy in prison garb stood in the warden's room of a state penitentiary, talking with his old school friend who had called to see him. Tears of bitter remorse came into his eyes, as he stood in the presence of the boy from the outside world, and contrasted their conditions. Then a cherry voice said to him:

"Cheer up old man, I have been talking to the warden about you and he not only tells me you are the most trusty man in the place, but you are so useful in the office that he doesn't like to think of your going when your term expires. You know, John, I ought to be here with you, for we were both guilty, but you were caught and suffered punishment, while I have escaped, but I have not forgotten, and I am going to stay by you and put you on your feet again."

The two young men had been boys together. They had graduated in the same class, and together had gone to the city to seek employment and fortune. They had found employment in the same store, Tom as a salesman, John as an office man. Bright and energetic, both advanced rapidly and in a very few years were both holding responsible positions. As salaries increased, wants multiplied, and the demand for more money was ever pressing. They did not mean to be dishonest, but John was in position to furnish funds without suspicion, and when the hour of detection came he was short in his accounts and swift retribution followed.

Tom shared the ill gotten gains, with full knowledge, but his friend was loyal, and not a breath of suspicion rested upon him. The one paid the penalty and suffered open disgrace and humiliation. The other escaped with a knowledge of guilt in his heart which had haunted him like a nightmare.

It is frequently said, that all the criminals are not in states prison, and that much crime evades the law an escape penalty. When it is doubtless true that many confirmed criminals escape penalty. While it is doubtless true that many confirmed criminals escape penalty. While it is doubtless true that many confirmed criminals escape penalty.

Murder that results in the death of a victim, is comparatively rare, but the seeds of murder in the heart are all too common. The man who holds up a train, or robs a bank at the point of a gun is an exceptional character, but the man who covets his neighbors goods and who is ready to take advantage of him at every turn, is not difficult to discover.

Few young men start out in life with well laid plans for a career of crime. The suggestion to crack a safe or burglarize a home, would be resented with the hot blood of indignation. Now and then one is led away by bad associations but these are exceptional cases.

The majority of young men believe in honesty, and practice it, so far as the letter of the law is concerned. This is true of men in business and in the various walks of life.

But honesty means more than simply observing the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal." It means more than faithfulness, under the eye of an employer. It means sixteen ounces to the pound, and thirty-six inches to the yard, in every department of the world's activities.

The young man who appreciates, in its broadest sense, the meaning of absolute honesty, and attempts faithfully to observe it, is taking long and steady strides toward success. The world has a place for such boys, and is constantly on the lookout for them.

The shadow of suspicion follows any man who is suspected of open dishonesty and the shadow of distrust clouds the future of any young man who does not observe strictly the spirit of the law.

Some one has said very truthfully, that the great volume of capital which moves the world's industries, is confidence. The important fact is sometimes overlooked by young men that they are a part of this great network of confidence.

The success of almost any business depends upon the loyal, faithful service of the employees who hold minor positions and perform what may seem to them insignificant service, and the success of the individual employee depends entirely upon his own faithful and intelligent exertion.

The royal road to success is by the route of hard persistent work, intelligently performed, and the landmarks are so plain in this age of rapid progress that they should not be overlooked.

It is well to remember that success is not only defeated through various causes that seem insignificant, but that penalty attaches to every infraction of the law of whatever nature.

The crime of neglect and indifference frequently means the loss of confidence and position. Many a young man is a camp follower who might have been a fighter at the front. He commenced to pay the penalty early in life and there is no commutation of sentence.

A little neglect of duty and a slight disposition to be reckless, was all that was necessary to invite the penalty and bright prospects are blighted not because he was a lawbreaker, but because he failed to appreciate and carry the light burden of responsibility that was upon him.

The young man who violates the laws of health, pays the penalty, and frequently suffers through years of misery in consequence. The pathway of life is crowded with men who are old at 60, not as the result of hard work, but as the result of dissipation and excess, back in the years of young manhood.

The young man who violates moral law and becomes licentious and profligate, pays the penalty just as surely as the man behind the bars. Society meets him with a frown, the business world has no use for him, and he becomes an outcast.

The penalty for neglect, whether in the school room, or the great university of life, is ignorance. The boy at twenty finds it difficult to learn the alphabet, and the man at thirty finds it just as difficult to apply himself to any useful occupation, if the earlier years have been neglected.

The penalty for slothfulness is poverty, and if it is cultivated or tolerated in young manhood, it means a life sentence, from which there is no escape.

The penalty for slothfulness is poverty, and if it is cultivated or tolerated in young manhood, it means a life sentence, from which there is no escape.

The ten commandments, handed down from Sinai, so long ago, is a very brief and comprehensive code, and recognized as the basis of law, but the larger code, and more difficult to observe, is the great unwritten code, easy of interpretation and suited to the requirements of every life.

The world is made better in proportion to the observance of these laws, and bondage disappears when men and women cultivate freely the new commandment, and the golden rule. It is well to keep out of state's prison, but it is better to be free from the shackles that sin and the violation of moral law entails.

THEORETICAL STATESMANSHIP.
The New York Evening Post recently propounded two questions to university professors and officers in various parts of the country. One of the questions, and the most important was:

"Do you favor the reduction or repeal of import duties on articles whose production in the United States is controlled by monopolies?"

Forty-three answers were received and of this number only two were negative. These learned gentlemen are doubtless honest in their convictions. Many of them were just as honest when they supported Bryan and advocated free silver in 1896, but they are handicapped by prescribed vision, and are so ignorant of business and the laws that govern trade, that they would fail to recognize a monopoly if it was labeled.

The American people have just spoken on the tariff question and their voice is more potent and will be more effective than the voice of a handful of men employed to instill impractical theories into the minds of American youth.

This country now and then produces a statesman, but he is seldom if ever a graduate from a university chair. This is no discredit to the profession, but it should be a reminder that modesty in dealing with questions of commercial and industrial import is a quality that should not be ignored.

The college professor is all right in his place. He is paid to do a certain kind of work and like all other employees, he is not expected to assume burdens outside of his calling.

The average college professor would be as badly at sea behind the counter, or in the office where great industries are directed, as the average business man would be in the pulpit.

One of the disturbing elements in this restless age, is found in the ranks of professional educators, who seem fired with an ambition to become leaders of thought, on questions of finance and other great issues vital to national and international life.

They annoyed the late President McKinley, by advancing radical notions on imperialism and suggestions as to the policy to be observed in dealing with our island possessions.

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that a man who is content to work all his life on a moderate salary, and who is so absorbed in his work that it satisfies his ambition, should develop traits of character that would command the attention of great financiers, and induce them to consult him as an advisor.

Neither is it consistent to believe this class of men with text book surroundings, find opportunity to develop rare genius in statecraft.

The age is intensely practical and people have but little or no inclination to experiment with theories. Every man to his work and close attention to the business in hand, is the highest order of service.

PRESS COMMENT

Sheboygan Journal: Reduced meats are now in sight. Soft corn will give an impetus to cattle feeding and the fattening cattle will produce the meat to supply the market and bring down prices. It will take some time, however to accomplish this result and in the meanwhile the butcher will have his own way.

Serious Mixing of Letters
A well-known citizen of Clay Center has been invited to an evening party. He wanted to go, but his wife declared she had no gown suitable for the occasion, and asked him to send "regrets" to their hosts.

The man went down to his office and penned this facetious note of declination: "We regret that your kind invitation must be declined for all the conventional reasons, but the real reason is that half the family has nothing to wear. My wife's latest dress is over three weeks old, and her hat is twelve hours out of date. You will appreciate the hopelessness of the occasion and excuse us."

He thought this pretty good, and he determined to write a note to his wife also explaining he would not be home for an early dinner, as she had asked him. He said in this note:

"I have turned down your invitation because I am going out tonight to see a play. I have no gown suitable for the occasion, and I am not expected to wear anything of importance. Sorry I won't be there to kiss you good night."

And then the fool man carelessly sent his wife's note to the hosts and the hosts' note to his wife.—Clay Center Times.

A Financial Certainty

THE EASTERN CONSOLIDATED OIL CO.

THIS Company has paid 20 per cent. in dividends in the past 10 months to stockholders on their investments. Thousands of jubilant shareholders are increasing their holdings, Not an experiment, but a dividend earning, profit producing, safe investment. An established business and over half a million dollars assets.

Ten months ago this stock sold for $10 a share. Increased production of oil and unprecedented demand for stock pushed the price to $15 a share, the company continuing meanwhile to pay 2 per cent. a month on the investment. Last summer the price went to $20 a share. Every $100 worth of stock bought last January is worth $200 today. But prices will double again, and quickly. Every $100 of stock bought now will be worth $200 within 90 days, perhaps sooner!

The Eastern Consolidated Oil Co., has 107 producing wells over 20,000 acres of rich oil land. $150,000 already expended in development work. Its oil properties are becoming immensely valuable. The company has actually received bona fide offers of $200,000 more than they cost originally.

The properties of the Eastern Consolidated Oil Company are located in Wood, Mercer and Van Wert counties, in Ohio, where the company has 1200 acres and 100 richly producing wells. One well came in in short time and for 200 barrels a day natural flow.

In Kern River district, California, the company owns 10 acres in the heart of the richest fuel oil region in the world. Within five miles the company expects to have 10 wells on lease tract by Christmas, which should increase the production of oil by at least 50,000 barrels a month. The company also has 10,000 acres of rich land in Santa Barbara, Cal., which promises to become the center of the New Oil Eldorado of the West.

Princely fortunes are made in oil.—J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller and scores of others made their money in oil investments.

Richard Ellis invested $100—his profits were $31,000; Edward Doherty invested $1,750—his profits were $100,000; Edward Stranberg invested $350—his profits were $120,000; W. B. Hardin invested $500—his profits were $150,000. What a lesson for you.

$100 invested in Eastern Consolidated Oil Stock last January is now worth $200 (as the price of stock has doubled) and has $20 in dividends. On January 1, 1903, (when the price goes to par, $100 a share) the $100 will be worth $400 and will have earned a total of $24 in dividends!

Of course a larger investment reaps larger returns in proportion to its size, but this company has scores of small investors all over the United States among its stockholders to whom the results of investment a substantial increase to their yearly incomes. We have hundreds of investors who put in from $50 to $100 who have already doubled their money.

The allotment of stock at 50c a share is almost exhausted. The price will positively go to par ($1.00 a share) on or before Jan. 1, 1903. It is a splendid chance to double your money in 60 days, and at the same time secure a rich dividend paying stock!

The scarcity of coal has taught people the value of oil for fuel.

This fact alone is sufficient to double the price of Eastern Consolidated Oil Company's stock. Hundreds of steamships and locomotives and factories are using oil for fuel today that burned coal only a few months ago. Oil is cheaper and better than coal. Oil is destined to be the fuel of the future.

NEATNESS THROUGHOUT

Bower City Creamery Plant is Sanitary and Strictly Modern

Those who have inspected the Bower City Creamery Co. plant, on South River street, of late have no reason to complain on account of its sanitary condition. This one point the company has looked after in a most careful manner. Several times during the day workmen scour every portion of the machinery. The floors are constantly being kept clean with running water. In fact no expense is being spared in making the local plant second to none in this portion of the country. The local sales of the Bower City Creamery Co. have nearly doubled of late which is convincing evidence that the public strongly favor the plan that they have now in hand.

THE BEST LIGHTED STORES

In any city in any state in these United States are the most prosperous stores. Not because they have more money to spend, but on the contrary, the more prosperous the retailer may be the point of the pencil used by the "best" Best lighted because they recognize and have recognized since the days of the starting of the Electric Light plant that nothing attracts customers as does a well lighted store. Nothing the merchant can place in window decoration, sales, etc., can produce a more real, hard cash showing than an are jump in front of store or one in front of each window.

Customers want to be attracted to the store, they want to see to get in, they want to see the inside when they get in; not just a spot here and there, but the whole store; they want to see the goods they purchase, they want to see the goods upon the shelves, and the merchant that does not let them see is the one that does not make the sale.

Don't make your customers squint up their eyes to see you across the counter. Cut out your street "dodger," cut down some newspaper space is necessary, but "let your light shine."

Lots of people forget the price, forget difference of a nickel or a dime if they get the service service means light.

Make that store a bright, attractive one, your customers breath better, feel freer and spend more.

Give them the light to see; seeing more often opens the purse strings than talk, and the best of it—but have good light.

Are lamps give the clear steady light required.

MILITARY PARTY A UNIQUE EVENT

GIVEN IN HONOR OF CAPT. AND
MRS. RICHARDSON

AT MAYOR RICHARDSON'S HOME

Guests of Honor Are To Leave Monday for Their Future Home in Little Rock.

Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Richardson, who have been visiting relatives in this city for the past month, will leave Monday for Little Rock, Ark., where Capt. Richardson will assume command of Company B 22nd Infantry United States Army. Capt. Richardson and wife recently returned from the Philippines, having been stationed at Manila for some time past. Janesville people will be interested to know that the new military home to which they are going is one of the prettiest in the United States. The barracks are situated on a bluff on the banks of the Arkansas river and overlook the city of Little Rock. It also holds high rank among the army posts of the country from a social standpoint, the social life at this post being notably characteristic for its culture and refinement.

A Unique Party
The visit of Capt. and Mrs. Richardson in this city has been a source of great pleasure to their relatives and friends. On last Wednesday evening they were the guests of honor at a party given at the home of their brother, Mayor Victor P. Richardson and wife. It was one of the most brilliant society events ever held in the city and sixty ladies and gentlemen were the delighted guests.

Military Decorations
Every detail of the party suggested military life. The spacious parlors were beautifully decorated with American flags and great bunches of choice cut flowers. The national colors. Military music was the entertainment provided for the evening and it proved most enjoyable.

Tables As Forts
There were ten tables and each one was named after a fort at which Captain Richardson had been stationed during his military career. In the center of each table was a miniature fort, above which, waved a large flag.

Forts Besieged
At each of these forts six players were stationed, three remaining to defend the fort while the other three went forth to capture flags from other forts. The captains were provided with handsome badges, made of ribbons and they led their forces bravely in the attack. This idea of battle added zest to the card games and the keenest interest was taken by the players as they devoted their best efforts to besieging or defending the fort. As new flags were captured by the attacking parties, they were taken back to the home fort and placed around this central flag and the bright colors on the card tables added a pretty decorative touch to the rooms.

Military Prizes
The military idea was also carried out in the prizes which were awarded. The first prizes being six flags and the consolation prizes being a drum and a cannon. The winners of the first honors and the flags were Mesdames E. P. Doty, S. B. Smith and W. H. Greenman and Messrs Charles Putnam, W. H. Judd and J. B. Dearborn. The consolation prizes were won by Mrs. W. A. Jackson and Miss Alice Rieger.

Dainty Supper
Later, in the evening, elegant refreshments were served, the supper being in two courses. The menu was delicious and the service faultless, the host and hostess being assisted in waiting on their guests by Mesdames George M. McKee and D. W. Watt and Misses Sarah Richardson, Alice Rieger and Kate Field.

AN EXCELLENT PLAN.

Good Citizenship Leagues Promote the Growth of a Town.

To promote the growth of a town an excellent plan is to form an organization, under any name, having for its object everything tending to improve the town, increase its population, promote the introduction of new industries; also to look after the taxation of the property embraced in the town and to secure the passage of ordinances and laws conducive to the prosperity of the place and the comfort of those making their homes there.

There should be elected a board of officers, consisting of representative business men and committees appointed to look after state and local legislation, taxation and village expenditures, enforcement of village ordinances, condition and appearance of streets and public places, travel and communication, education, water supply, sewage and sanitary affairs, new industries and membership.

If controlled by the proper spirit, such an organization cannot but be conducive to the growth and prosperity of any town.

Town Improvement Hint.

Outdoor housekeeping is just as important as indoor housekeeping. Waste paper receptacles placed on street corners will help greatly in keeping the streets free of rubbish, etc.

One of the best ways to beautify front and back yards is to interest children in this work.

Village improvement societies are a power in building up towns and keeping them clean and beautiful. Neatly trimmed trees and lawns add greatly to the appearance of a street. Much of the beauty of a lawn is lost if the edges are not kept in order.

The cost of the raw materials of a violin, comprising seventy different parts, is about $1.25.

DOCTORS HOLD FIRST MEETING

MEDICAL FRATERNITY DISCUSS ABNORMAL PRESENTATIONS.

ROCK CO. ASSOCIATION MET

Nurses from Hospitals in Attendance—General Discussion Followed—Five Talks.

Those doctors who attended the first meeting of the Rock County Medical association of the year, were well satisfied that the organization has a successful year before it. The papers of last evening proved so keen an incentive toward question asking, that the discussion was continued until long after the regular hour of closing.

In addition to the doctors who were present six of the nurses from the Palmer hospital had accepted an invitation extended to them to be present.

Five papers were delivered upon the subject, "Abnormal Presentations." The speakers were Drs. Sutherland, Barry, Judd, Pember and Loomis. Dr. Sutherland was the leader of the meeting and selected the speakers.

Before the papers were taken up, a short business meeting was held. The principal matter under discussion was the place which should be fixed upon for the meetings of the association in the future. Finally Dr. Buckmaster, the president, appointed to serve on a committee to investigate the matter, Drs. Loomis and Mills.

Dr. Buckmaster announced that he had selected the topics for the coming six months, although if it is found necessary, the subjects may be changed at a later date. The leaders of the different meetings, which will be held on the first Friday of each month, will be chosen by the president.

Dr. Buckmaster has outlined the following topics for the association to complete the first six months of this year. Dr. Pember will lead the next meeting which will be held on December 5. His subject will be "Diseases of the Ovaries and the Fallopian Tubes."

January—Accidents During Labor. February—Use of Forceps. March—Leucocythemia and Pernicious Anemia. April—Vertigo.

PEOPLE'S COURSE MOST ATTRACTIVE

Program for the Season Includes High Class Lectures and Musical Evenings.

The make up of the People's Lecture Course this year is worthy of more than passing note. The usual high class musical attractions have been secured and the lecturers, Hon. Wallace Bruce of New York, and Blahy Fallows of Chicago are each leaders in their line of thought, while the engagement of Margaret Hanley of Chicago, a lady who has made a reputation for herself as being not only talented, but one who has taken upon a peculiar way, and who has done much towards the bringing about the solution of one phase of this question.

Very frequently lecture courses are arranged with an idea simply to entertain but while it has been the aim of the People's Course to always do this, at the same time there has always been an educational feature of their courses and those attending them can always take away from them something which they can think about and enjoy long after the course is over, and the course as arranged this year seems to have surpassed other years in bringing about the ends spoken of above.

No one can afford to miss such a list of attractions as are offered for the meager sum of one dollar.

He was cutting an item from a newspaper.

MET A DIFFICULT PROBLEM TODAY

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS MEET
WAYLAND ACADEMY ELEVEN.

BOYS FROM BEAVER DAM HERE

Both Teams Will Fight—Wayland Has a Record Which Will Make Local Men Hustle.

Wayland Academy this afternoon pitted its star team against the local high school aggregation at Athletic park. The visitors came with a record which is not unmarked with defeats, but the losses were at the hands of strong teams, and the victories were against stiff eleven. Supporters of the local boys feared that another defeat would be chalked up against them, but the boys went in to do their game.

In order that the players on the local team might be in good shape the class game on Wednesday was done away with, and the practice this week has been of a kind that was calculated to bring out the best in the men, and put them in winning form, if they were capable of it. At any rate the team has the support of the high school and the bitter rivalry which has been aroused over the coming class struggle is all forgotten in the battle against a common enemy.

Added interest was felt in the game in the fact that three of the team from Beaver Dam are Janesville boys. Ralph Inman, one of the three, not play, but Herbert Goldin, and Clarence Sutherland were both in the game, the latter being captain of his team.

GAYLORD LOSES DRAINAGE SUIT

NO RIGHT TO DEVELOP POWER

Holds Use to Which It Was Proposed to Put Privilege Sought to Be Acquired Is Not in Accordance With Public Policy.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The Gaylord syndicate has lost its suit against the sanitary district of Chicago. In a decision handed down Judge H. W. Hilscher, sitting in the Circuit court of Will county, ruled that on the showing made Gaylord and his associates had no right to develop power caused by the flow of the drainage canal, and for this reason Gaylord's petition for condemnation was dismissed.

Judge Hilscher's decision is short but pointed. His ruling was based on a contention that the waterway cannot be converted to private uses.

The attorneys for the syndicate announced that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme court and that an effort would be made to induce an early ruling from that tribunal.

Gist of the Decision.

Judge Hilscher's decision was as follows: "I have not prepared an opinion discussing the various questions raised and the argument of this motion, for the reason that the conclusion I have reached renders it necessary that the questions involved be submitted to the Supreme court before any further steps be taken in the proceedings. Admitting the constitutional right of the petitioners in a proper case to take private property by condemnation for a grist mill and navigation purposes, in order to make the case a proper one the purpose of such taking must be for a public use.

"It is clearly the duty of the court in this kind of a case to determine whether the purpose of taking is for a public or private use. If the purpose is in fact for a private use, though under cover or pretense for a public use, then it is the duty of the court to deny the exercise of the right of eminent domain.

Dismisses the Suit.

After a careful consideration of the petition and evidence and the authority cited as well as the mill act and the sanitary district act and the well-known industrial conditions, of which it is the duty of the court to take note, I am led to the unavoidable conclusion that the purpose of the determination as sought in this case is not to acquire property for a public use, but is to acquire public property for a private use.

"Even if the public use be admitted, I have the most serious doubt as to whether the use to which it is proposed to put the property sought to be taken is not inconsistent with and destructive of the public use for which it was acquired and is held.

"The motion to dismiss will therefore be sustained."

Belongs to the People.

The litigation involved the right of the drainage board to develop the water power at Lockport and Joliet for public use. Concerning the matter Trustee Baker said:

"I have never doubted that the courts would sustain us in our contention that the water power of the drainage board belonged to those who created it, the taxpayers of the city of Chicago. I feel sure that the Supreme court will confirm the opinion of Judge Hilscher."

During the progress of the suit charges were made frequently that big Chicago interests were supporting Gaylord in his fight.

Of Local Interest

Some People we Know and we will Profit by hearing about them.

Is more worthy of confidence. Than one you know nothing about. Endorsed by unknown people. Veteran A. E. Lee, of 51 Sharon St., carpenter, says: "For twenty years kidney complaint troubled me a great deal, many days I could hardly keep at my work and by rights should have staid at home and doctored. It was seldom that my back did not ache and I have been completely laid up for three or four days at a stretch. When stooping or lifting twinges penetrated the kidneys, the secretions from those organs were too frequent and accompanied by pain. I used all kinds of remedies but none gave permanent relief. Obtaining Don's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co. I took them and after the first three or four doses a noticeable change was brought about. I improved steadily from then on and completing the treatment I was in good condition and am well now."

STRIKERS CLASH WITH CAVALRY

INFLECT INJURY ON OFFICERS

Coal Miners Refuse to Accept Arbitration Award and Resort Policy of Government in Keeping Troops in the Vicinity of the Collieries.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Rioting by the strikers at Lens and Anzin ended in serious encounters between the cavalry and strikers, in which a number on both sides were badly injured. At Anzin the cavalry was sent to attack the strikers and a lively clash ensued. Lieutenant Duval was injured by being struck in the breast with a brick, two other officers were hurt, and several of the cavalry horses were disabled. Only the timely arrival of reinforcements dispersed the strikers.

Mob Throws Bricks.

At Lens when the cavalry attempted to disperse the rioting mob the latter replied by throwing bricks at the soldiers. Gendarmes were hurried to the rescue of the cavalry and they too were assaulted with bricks. One soldier was injured. After a fight lasting several minutes the strikers were scattered.

All through the Pas-de-Calais coal district the strikers are making vigorous demonstrations against the policy of the government in keeping troops in the vicinity. Six thousand striking coal miners held a meeting at Lievin (department of Pas-de-Calais). They decided not to accept the decision of the arbitrators against an increase of the present rate of wages and to continue the strike.

Investigating Committee.

The Chamber of Deputies took up a resolution moved by M. Romanet, Radical-Socialist, for the appointment of a commission of thirty-three members to investigate the condition of the miners and to report upon means to prevent economic conflicts. Premier Combes said the government had no objection to the appointment of such a commission, and the resolution was adopted by 367 votes to 148.

The government arbitrators announced their decision against increasing the wages of the striking miners in the department Du Nord. The grounds of the decision are similar to those in the Pas-de-Calais arbitration, namely, that the rates are proportionate to the selling price of coal. The large companies in the Nord have agreed to establish pensions for a term of five years.

Regular bowels will result in a complete cure when you use Mull's Grape Tonic. Unlike pills and ordinary cathartics, this remedy is a mild, gentle laxative in addition to being a greater flesh-builder, blood-maker and strength-giver than cod liver oil or any other preparation recommended for that purpose. Mull's Grape Tonic will permanently cure the most obstinate cases of constipation, and the numerous afflictions that invariably follow in its wake. No matter if it is piles, liver complaint, kidney disorder, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, diarrhoea or the self-poisoning which follows when the undigested food remains in the bowels where it putrefies and empties highly diseased germs into the blood, such as typhoid and malaria, Mull's Grape Tonic will positively cure. PRESIDENT LIKES COMMISSION'S ACT

Two Members Tell Roosevelt of His Popularity Among the Miners.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Carroll D. Wright and General John M. Wilson of the anthracite coal strike commission called in President Roosevelt today. The President expressed great pleasure at the thoroughness and promptness with which the commission has undertaken its work.

Mr. Wright has received a dispatch from Mr. Watkins of the commission, who is in Scranton, saying that the independent operators of the Wyoming and Lackawanna region have agreed to become parties to the arbitration, and have bound themselves to accept the award of the commission. Taking of testimony by the commission will begin in Scranton next Friday.

According to Assistant Recorder Mosley, President Roosevelt has made himself very popular among the miners. "It is surprising," he said, "to observe the affection with which the president is regarded by the coal miners. Socialists as well as democrats are with him. They refer to him as 'our beloved president,' and their belief in his honesty is implicit. They almost defy him, even in the colonies composed almost entirely of foreigners."

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 8.—W. B. Wilson, national secretary of the United Mine Workers, arrived in town tonight from Indianapolis. He was closeted for some time with President Mitchell. It is understood that Secretary Wilson will be the spokesman for the miners in the American Federation convention next week in New Orleans. Mr. Mitchell will be unable to attend the convention, all his time being taken up in preparing the anthracite miners' case for submission to the arbitration commission, which meets at Scranton next week.

PROFESSOR KEDZIE 'IS DEAD AT LANSING

Was Long Noted as a Leader in Agricultural Studies and Was a Friend of Farmers.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 8.—Dr. Robert C. Kedzie, for forty years professor of chemistry at the Michigan Agricultural college, but who was retired from active duty last June and was made professor emeritus, died at the age of 79 years. Robert C. Kedzie was of Scotch-Irish stock. He was born in the hills of western New York and was taken to the backwoods of Michigan, when three years old. Teaching country school and laboring with his hands as he could the boy went to Oberlin and was graduated in 1847. Still teaching between terms he was graduated from the medical school of the University of Michigan in 1851; at Rochester (Mich.) academy he taught for two years, then for ten years practiced as surgeon in Vermontville, with one year in the volunteer service of the United States army. He was appointed to his late position in the Agricultural college on Feb. 25, 1863, and at a time when the idea of an agricultural college was hooted by almost every educator in the land. Almost thirty years ago Kedzie found the lightning rod "craze" spreading everywhere through the country and the agents of the manufacturers imposing upon the people to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. He set to work to demonstrate the false ideas, and as the result of his work the lightning rod virtually has passed out of existence. Explosions of kerosene had become great in the aggregate, and Dr. Kedzie began to look into the new substance to the end that the "Kedzie test" was established as the safety line in Kerosene. The state legislature passed laws regulating the standard of this oil other states followed, and to-day the "Kedzie test" is the "160 test" demanded of kerosene refiners in nearly every state in the union. Commercial fertilizers became another menace to the prosperity of the farmer, through the rascally operations of a few men who were selling virtually coal ashes to farmers all over the United States. This the doctor exposed, breaking up the business. In all of these moves the doctor was implored, threatened and prosecuted by the "vested interests" in all these lines, but he was victor.

Adjourned the Hearing. M. H. De Young of San Francisco, tells of an investigation of an accident in a deaf and dumb asylum in that city. All the witnesses gave testimony with their fingers. There was a commotion among those present when the officer announced: "This hearing is adjourned until tomorrow."

Two Good Mottoes. A farmer out in the Sixth district, Missouri, has two mottoes framed and hung in his parlor. One is "God Bless Our Home," and the other, "Plant the Corn Thin."—Kansas City Star.

A Praiseworthy Enterprise. The National Dressmakers' Association will hereafter endeavor to find husbands for worthy seamstresses who are unable to conclude matrimonial negotiations without help. This is a praiseworthy enterprise and should be looked into by all bachelors who are charitably disposed.

Some One Had to Be There. His Lordship—Will your father be at the dock? She—Why, yes, dear, one must pay the duties on you, life.

A MODEL TOWN.

One to Be Shown at the St. Louis Exposition.

A "model town," with everything just as it should be—streets wide, well paved and clean, with no overhead wires and unsightly billboards and public buildings perfect in their arrangements—will be a feature of the coming St. Louis exposition. There will be no crooked, badly paved thoroughfares and no fire trap buildings. Streets will be lighted with the latest improvements, and the police and fire protection will be arranged with the idea of teaching lessons to the towns and cities.

Upon a circular enclosed space the town will be built, three types of street planning being used, which, in their combination, are thought to offer the best and most potentially beautiful ground plan, says the Philadelphia Times. These are the radial, circular and gridiron types. The circular boulevard, so often seen in the old world cities, will be laid around the town, one-half of it being laid out as a park road, properly planted. The other half of the boulevard will be used for exhibition purposes. In the center of the park road will be the railroad station on a square just touching the outer edge of the boulevard. Extending from this open entrance to the town at a slight upward grade will be a broad, well paved street, ending in a plaza.

This plaza will be the official as well as the actual center. Around it will be the group of public buildings, the county courthouse, the town hall, the postoffice. The plaza will be laid out with unusual care and in such a way that it and the surrounding structures will form a harmonious whole.

As the streets are to form one of the main parts of the exhibit, they will be used to illustrate the principles of municipal art. They will have good pavements and gutters, smooth sidewalks and will be kept spotlessly clean. There will be no overhead wires, no waste paper and refuse, no billboards. Street signs will be plain and perfectly legible. The lights will be simple and dignified. There may even be benches along the way.

Not only will the promoters attempt to show what ought to be avoided in making a town beautiful, but they will make use of only the most artistic furnishings in hydrants, mail boxes, refuse receptacles, the lighting apparatus and the public convenience stations.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE.

Method and Cost of Burning It in England.

While the accumulation of refuse in the smaller towns has not so great a bearing on public health as in the larger towns and cities neatness and cleanliness are always desirable, and many diseases are directly traced to carelessness in this matter. Typhoid fever is considered by scientists as a filth disease. Ignorance and stupidity are often responsible for outbreaks of disease in localities that with trifling care in the disposition of sink drains and garbage would never have occurred. Kitchen refuse thrown in a heap in the back yard, there to fester and rot, is always a dangerous neighbor. What cannot be burned should be disposed of in a manner that will preclude the possibility of its becoming a menace to public health.

The refuse in the district of Ealing, adjacent to London, which has a population of 25,000, is burned in a patent "destructor" which has four cells. It has a chimney 143 feet in height. The fuel used is a fine coke, and the quantity consumed costs 37 cents a day. The cost of the destructor was $10,000. The quantity of refuse burned is 6,120 tons per year. The heat from the destructor is utilized by a boiler supplying steam for an engine which drives the line mixing machines and clay mixer for the sewage portion of the works.

The local authorities in the Battersea division of London, with a population of 150,000, have erected a patent destructor with a chimney 150 feet in height. It cost $57,000 and consumes 23,000 tons of refuse a year, and there are no complaints about offensive odor.

Roads as an Attraction.

The board of supervisors of Nevada county, Cal., met recently and unanimously adopted the following resolutions, says the San Francisco Chronicle: "Whereas, The public roads of Nevada county are in a deplorable condition, for which reason immigration to Nevada county is discouraged; and, whereas, the funds of the several road districts as well as the general road fund of said county are in a depleted condition, which renders it impossible for the road commissioners of said county to place said roads in proper condition; and, whereas, in the opinion of this board nothing would tend more to aid in the work of inducing immigration to said county than the placing of the roads in better condition, which improvement would also incidentally advertise the agricultural, mineral and manufacturing interests of said county; now, therefore, be it unanimously ordered by this board that the sum of $1,000 be appropriated from the general fund of the county to the general road fund to aid in the work of inducing immigration to said Nevada county by so improving the public thoroughfares."

The Town's Sidewalks.

A little effort on the part of householders would go a long way toward making the sidewalks a source of pride rather than the useless and dangerous pathways that border all too many of the streets. In the interest of beauty, safety and neatness let us have uniform sidewalks and keep them in proper repair.

High and Low. Magistrate—Did I understand you to say that the parties used high words? Witness—Yes, your worship; their voices were unusually high, and their language was extremely low.—Glasgow Evening Times.

Putz—Eberyding I can lay mein hants on.—Penn. Punch Bowl.

A Diplomat. Gladys—If she doesn't love him why does she encourage him?
